Kountz and the Alleghany publishing company to receive twenty thousand dollars damages for an alleged libel. The suit was brought upon the publication of an article in the editorial columns of the Pittsburg Evening Mail, under the head, 'Is it Equal Justice?' and upon which this suit for libel is based. The alleged libelous article contained the following: Coulson and his corrupt partners (meaning thereby S. B. Coulson, John B. Dallas and William E. Evans, it spresent plaintiff), are living here in inxurious style on the very money which they have stolen from the Indians and the government. These fellows are permitted to run at large, who have assisted to rob millions, while Davis and Frank (meaning the two individuals arrested charged with counterfeiting) are severely dealt with. Is this even-handed justice? Is it statesmanship to award contracts to thieves, and turn a deaf ear to all complaints. The complaint alleges that William J.
